

While the Tree Birds are busy arguing over branches, Sea Birds are crossing oceans, surviving storms, and navigating half the planet just to make it home.

Our electorate stretches far beyond the coastline. We know rising seas, warming oceans, plastic pollution, and fishing lines aren't abstract political debates – they're life and death.

And unlike some parties, we don't feed voters lines. We avoid lines. Especially longlines.

This election, back the birds taking on the biggest challenges of all.

Vote Sea Birds – We want you
